Wild Words Teen Writing Anthology

Do you write? Are you a teen? Do you live in the North Country? The Adirondack Center for Writing wants to help publish your work!

Wild Words: Adirondack Teen Writing Anthology is a new publication of the Adirondack Center for Writing, created to give teens a venue to publish their original creative writing. Any teen (age 13-19) living in the North Country is eligible to submit writing for consideration. Each contributor will receive one copy of the anthology when it launches in spring 2023. Submitting writing is not a guarantee of publication.

Julie Johnson Dowd Art Exhibit

Johnson Dowd Exhibit in the Art Corner

Julie Johnson Dowd is a local wildlife photographer who noticed two things at the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic: fewer people, more wildlife. The more she looked throughout her walks, the deeper she felt peace come from her connection to the water, the waves, and the wildlife, be they the common seagulls or the more impressive loons. She began documenting what she saw while she meandered, and each trip led to new discoveries, and even more photographs.

Her work will be on exhibit in the Art Corner at the Library all December and January!

Project Local is brought to you in partnership with the Lake George Arts Project.
